Lush Downtempo for the Soul

Electronic Press Kit

Dub Sutra achieves a splendid balance between the trifecta of vocal chant, beats, and organic live instruments.

– LA Yoga Magazine

Dub Sutra is the collaborative project of husband and wife producers Chris and Charlotte Proud, blending downtempo electronic music with sound healing and global influences. With over 20 years of experience, Chris, a licensed chiropractor and physiotherapist, combines his expertise in holistic health with his passion for music to create transformative sonic experiences. Charlotte, a vocalist and visionary artist, adds her angelic voice and artistic vision to every aspect of the project. Together, they craft music perfect for meditation, yoga, and relaxation, using ancient healing techniques alongside modern sound technology to guide listeners on journeys of balance and self-discovery.

A key member of Dub Sutra, John Mark Aladeen is a multi-instrumentalist and flute-maker whose enchanting flute playing, along with his skills in percussion, didgeridoo, and singing bowls, adds a unique depth to the project. Born in the Philippines to a lineage of shamans, JM's music is shaped by his ancestral roots and his strong connection to sound healing.

Dub Sutra has shared the stage with renowned artists such as Snam Kaur, Desert Dwellers, Nahko & Medicine for the People, and Deepak Chopra, captivating audiences at global festivals like Envision Festival, Lucidity, Sedona Yoga Fest, and more. Their music has been featured in Spirituality & Health Magazine and LA Yoga Magazine, and they've earned millions of streams across platforms like Spotify, iTunes, Apple Music, and Pandora. Dub Sutra has also charted as a #1 Bestseller on Yogitunes and contributed to charity music events for organizations like Feeding America and the One Love Foundation.

With two full-length albums—The Rise of Downtempo and All Is Love Is All—and numerous singles to their name, Dub Sutra continues to inspire audiences worldwide. Their sound is a soulful journey of transformation, healing, and connection, offering listeners the chance to find inner peace and balance through music that transcends the ordinary.
